

COOKIE POLICY

Datlinq Nederland B.V. (hereinafter: “Datlinq” or “we”) wants to ensure that your visit to our website is as smooth, reliable, and useful as possible. In order to make this possible our website uses cookies and similar technologies (such as pixel tags). We also use cookies to learn how you interact with our website and to improve your experience while visiting it. We feel that it is important that you know what cookies are, what cookies our website uses and how you can manage your cookie settings.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files containing small amounts of information which are automatically stored by your internet browser on your device when you visit a website. Cookies may contain basic information about your device or internet use. Cookies allow the website to remember your actions or preferences over time. We use several different types of cookies. Some of these are session cookies which are temporary and allow us to link your actions during your visit to our website. Temporary cookies expire when you close your browser. We also use persistent cookies which remain on your device for a longer period and are used to remember your preferences within the website. We use these cookies to analyse your behaviour on our website so we can improve our website functionality. Persistent cookies also allow us to provide you with targeted advertising and measure the effectiveness of our website advertising and website functionality.

What cookies do we use?

The cookies we use can be divided in the following 3 categories:

Functional and essential cookies

Functional and essential cookies ensure that our website operates properly. These cookies help you to access and move around our website and use all its features. Our website does not work properly without functional and essential cookies.

Analytical cookies

Analytical cookies help us to understand your behaviour on our website, so we can improve your experience. Analytical cookies provide us with information about how you arrived at our website, how and how long you visit it. These cookies also provide us with information about which parts of our website and which content interests you and if you experience any errors.

Advertising, marketing, and social media cookies

Advertising, marketing, and social media cookies (including other similar tracking technologies) collect information about your browsing habits in order to make our content and advertising as relevant to you and your interests as possible. These cookies also help to improve your browsing experience by remembering your website preferences. These cookies also limit the number of times you see an advertisement and to measure the effectiveness of our advertising campaigns by tracking the number of clicks.

Advertising, marketing, and social media cookies are usually placed by third parties. These parties remember the websites you visit and use this information to give you access to interesting content on our website and show you personalized advertisements. The following third parties place these cookies through our website. We recommend that you read the privacy statements of these parties.

- Cookiebot;
- Google;
- LinkedIn;
- Elementor.

We only place advertising, marketing, and social media cookies if you have given us your consent to do so. You can revoke your consent at any time.
